

BWF attachment nr 2

Individual work booths are used exclusively for educational and scientific purposes. They can be used by users who have a valid BUW library card.

Renting a booths charges the user's account in the same way as a borrowed book.

Rental period is 7 days (it can be renewal three times, provided that the booth has not been previously booked by another reader). You can use your own and library materials in the booths. Library materials should be borrowed before. At any given time, you can only borrow one cabin. This means that you can only borrow an additional key or pick up a key for a reserved cabin if the cabin you previously occupied has been vacated.

Materials can be left in booths during your use of it, but the Library is not responsible for items left in the booths.

A Library employee has the right to enter the booths at any time, including during user absences. After the person has finished using the booths the user is obliged to leave the room in the same condition.

took them over. In the event of a violation of applicable rules, the employee may demand to leave the cabin immediately.

Staff should be informed about any damage or irregularities noticed before using the booths.
